

013 Planting and Harvesting

Dr. Carlos Blair

And I say good evening to you one and all. Well this is indeed a pleasure for me to once again have the opportunity of manifesting in this manner. And as I come forth I think it best that I allow myself and my presence to be known, I am Dr. Carlos Blair, and as you've probably recognized by now I'm a little bit English, but don't hold that too much against me.

This evening the medium of course, was not unusual in his manner that he didn't leave a great deal of time. I thought it would be a very appropriate time possibly David, of just reiterating our entire conversation earlier this day. What would you think of that? Well I don't believe I will since you're willing. However, I'm teasing him just a little. Not a lot, but just a little. You know, I believe truthfully the Rock was fearful that I might be in the same mood this night and bring embarrassment upon the medium. Well I'm here to tell you I wouldn't dare do that.

Now I first of all want to welcome all of you that might be here for the first time and also to welcome all of you who have been here for the many times and to tell the one Bruce it's good to have you back in the midst. But keep it clean. You know I'm teasing him a little now. You understand what I'm talking about, yes? And you will be making that trip there to the coast. And I'm not going to spend a lot of time in going to each of you but Ginger, that is not a good place, you know. It's not proper, do you understand what I'm talking about, the building? Yes there'll be better, so don't concern yourself about it. Now Arthur, I believe you're there, well you'd better tell the old boy he might just as well quit being so tight and spend the money and do the work and do it right. Tell him to get the metal to do it with. Do you understand what I'm talking about? Well that'll solve that one.

Not you know I feel in the mood to solve problems, I believe tonight. But I don't know that that would necessarily be best. Because again you came for the purpose of something of a spiritual upliftment, and not that of uplifting your funny bone as it were.

I've chosen this evening because of the time and also the need to speak on a subject that I've set aside various times and wondered when it would be most appropriate, and I think the time is now. I wish to speak about the one who plants the seed is not always the one who reaps the harvest.

Man in his physical being is one who goes about interpreting and understanding the concepts as they are taught within the confines of the Bible, where Jesus Christ himself was teaching when he said "as ye sow so shall ye reap". He also said that you must reap your harvest but you must plant on fertile ground.

Many times man in a physical body when he has planted his seeds the moment they don't sprout and grow and multiply, as Christ had taught and promised as it were, man finds himself standing in condemnation and saying, "But all life I've been a giver, I've put forth, I've planted all these seeds but I've never reaped a harvest."

First of all, if I were that farmer, I would be certain I would check the quality of the seeds I was planting. And then I would very carefully check as to the fertility of the soil I was placing them upon. And then I would see how good a groundsman I am being, am I merely planting the seed and walking away, and say "Now God I've planted the seed, but you have to do all the work, you have to weed it, you have to fertilize it, you have to cultivate it, and then give me the harvest". That's the way some in physical body seem to want to do. And Dr. Ristow this night spoke on the subject and touched lightly upon it, in the service itself, as it were, and he spoke about the futility sometimes of planting. And Christ himself had taught that that could be futile, if we did not go about it wisely, carefully, with good choice.

Many times, I see those who are in the physical body reaching out in a spiritual manner to another in a humanitarian way of saying I must reach out to my brother and uplift and help him on his way. And he reaches out, and he uplifts, and may even start him in the right direction, but the moment he turns his back he sits down again, by free will of choice.

Many make themselves very unhappy by being persistent and taking issue with God Almighty himself, and saying, "I'm going to make that person be different than what they are". And none have the right or the ability to do so. Again, each of you have been placed in a physical body with total free will of choice, to make your own decisions, and to abide by the results of that decision. It is well to reach out that helping hand for the upliftment that might be needed, but it's like planting the seed upon the rock, when it doesn't bear fruit, don't continue to put all the rest of your seed on the rock, 'cause you merely lose it all for naught.

There has to come that time when you say it is the responsibility of that individual for themselves, to take the situation they find themselves in and do their portion. As has so often been said, "God helps them that help themselves". Christ taught, "do not cast your pearls before swine". He said, "choose carefully the soil in which you plant your seeds".

There are limitations to which you reach out to your fellow man. That is one of the most difficult decisions, that you manifesting in a physical body is every confronted with, is at what point is my planting good seed in bad soil, to where I plant no more. Because you see, it multiplies in the negative, because when you have repeatedly planted the seed where through the hard labors involved in trying to cultivate it, without any return then the return you really receive is that of the negativity of saying, "but God is not fulfilling the word, God is not indeed multiplying my efforts". And the other area that man is blinded to, is that he expects God to return it in the same form, from the same source in which he planted it. And that is contrary to the way in which God Almighty works. He may receive it from you with his right hand and give it back to you with his left. That's rather simple in the form of an analogy.

It may not come exactly in the direction from which you think that it should. But it will be forthcoming. And when you have the problem my medium has, that of a lack of patience, then you all of a sudden say, "but God, but I've waited and I've waited and you haven't brought it back yet". You see that's 'cause all of you in a physical body are caught up in those things you wear on your wrist, we used to carry in our pockets, called the watch. You're involved with time and you put limitations on, with time, you put limitations on by your own thinking processes. And I'm here to say that if you have indeed carefully checked the seed that you're planting, if you have indeed carefully checked the soil in which you're going to place it, and if you have indeed been a good gardener, and have tended it, cultivated it, watered it, and fertilized it, and helped it along and nurtured it, it will indeed multiply beyond the minimum of the hundred fold.

But in your inspection, when you realize that the seed you're working with is no longer in a state that can be germinated, then don't waste your energy, your time, your efforts or bring about the frustration on yourself by planting it. Cast it aside. If you find the soil is not worthy, don't use it. Look for good soil. And then, of course, when all is in order, and you found the good soil with the good seed and it's properly planted, then don't become complacent or lazy. And say, "now God it's all your turn". You know my medium says that what he does. But if you were around him all the time you'd find that isn't the way he does it at all. You see, he does to some extent. But he'll say, "God you bring the money forth to get the material, and then it'll all get done." And then the money comes forth, the material comes forth and he's right there in the middle of it saying "I gotta do it". And he does beyond what he should at times, and thereby depriving others of their opportunities of fulfillment.

Now as a last resort, when his frustration gets too great, then of course he finally comes to the realization, "well ok God, I give up on this one, it's yours, now you carry it." But it's after he has expended all of his own possibilities. And I'm not saying that in fault, I'm saying that is part of being the good gardener. Don't pull some of the weeds, but pull them all. Don't pull the weeds until the plant has sprouted and started to mature. Continue removing the weeds until it has its full maturity and has had the opportunity to indeed multiply as least that one hundred fold.

Now that you've all been gardeners, you've all been seed sorters, you've all been waterers, I believe that I've made it rather clear, don't bring frustration upon yourself because you feel that God has not fulfilled, by bringing back in abundance to what you've planted. Instead, as I say, check the seed, the soil and the care.

God Bless you one and all. Now I believe you might have some questions about the subject we've spoken on tonight.

(long pause)

Well it sounds like we've done it again, David. Made it so clear that it couldn't possibly be misunderstood. Now watch me get a question. Yes. That's what I thought, God Bless, I'm teasing of course, as I know you were.

Question: Can you explain what is our exact purpose here on this planet, is it different for each and every individual?

Dr. Blair: Most certainly, because each of you are at a different level of evolvment in your spiritual progression. And therefore you have different things to work through and different purposes to be fulfilled.

Question: Is man really designed, evolving to be androgynous, that means being both male and female on the earth plane?

Dr. Blair: Man is created in that manner from the beginning, as all of the animal kingdom are, and in all animal life, the genes of both the male and female are indeed found in each individual, and it is in the quantity and number of each that has indeed determined whether or not that person will manifest in a given male or female role.

Question: Well what I mean by androgynous-carrying both male and female in the same body.

Dr. Blair: That's what I just said.

Question: The human, mankind is evolving to that point on the earth plane, is that correct?

Dr. Blair: Not evolving to it-its always been, from the beginning of time when God created man. He placed within the physical aspects of every individual some feminine and some masculine qualities and genes. The sensitivity that a man has, if he has great sensitivity, is coming forth from a high level of feminine traits or genes, as it were. The one who finds himself being, what you call macho, yes. That's because his level of masculine is much greater, but his level of sensitivity, you might as well forget it. You see, so the ideal is to have a good balance. Besides that it takes both to make anything happen anyway.

Now I believe we've gotten a little away from the subject of the evening. Alright, go ahead with questions.

Question: You said that man has both male and female genes.

Dr. Blair: And hormones, yes. And I could get into other qualities, but yes.

Question: Well what is the explanation for homosexuality?

Dr. Blair: Just very simple. Because man is manifested in a physical body that happens to have a greater amount or a very narrow variation between the male and the female genders within the body, then that individual has the ability to manifest in either direction. Well let's say for instance, that a man who is considered to be masculine might have let's say seventy percent masculine genes and only thirty percent feminine. If one were to have instead let's say fifty-five and forty-five, then they'd be very close to being in the vibratory levels of both would they not? And that brings about the possibilities, of course, then, of what you in the physical body have learned to refer as being...whether it's in a man or woman it makes no difference, to those who are homosexual you might call it, yes.

Question: So what you're saying is it's not wrong either way, being heterosexual or homosexual?

Dr. Blair: Well, of course I'm not God, so I don't stand in judgment of man. And I don't think God does either. But like anything else it can be made to be wrong, yes. If indeed there was no consideration of your fellow man involved with it, and it was flaunted and forced upon or attempted to be forced upon, then the act of forcing that would be wrong. But for one to go about manifesting in the manner in which God Almighty created, it would be very difficult for man to stand in judgment and say, "God did it wrong."

Now do we have any more questions about planting seeds? And I'm not speaking of the human. Yes. David, what's the time like? The Rock's getting nervous. Well I'll allow some personal questions. How's that?

(long pause)

My goodness, no personal questions either? I either have scared everyone or confused everyone.

Question: I was having trouble with my automobile...

Dr. Blair: Yes, you better worry about getting another one, because that one's about to give up the ghost. Go to the great junkyard in the sky, yes.

Response: Can you tell me what's wrong with it?

Dr. Blair: Yes, you've lost compression in part of the cylinders, Jimmy says. It's caput. Yes.

Response: Thank you.

Dr. Blair: That doesn't sound like much to thank someone for, unless you dislike it a lot.

Question: I'm seeking guidance to a job that's right for me. Do you have any guidance for me?

Dr. Blair: Most definitely. First of all, the best process is to make oneself available as to the extent of what their wishes are, and decide and determine in your own mind what your desires are and then, in meditation, start utilizing visualization of the job forth coming. And it'll be right there. But you see the problem dear, you have difficulty in deciding what "I really want to do". Do you understand? So center your self on what is it "I really want to do". And then start visualizing it and I would say within about two weeks time you'll have it. Yes, you create it in thought first, yes.

Question: You mentioned something to me earlier and I was wondering in connection with your message, and talking about the efforts we should put forth in accomplishing something in regards to what I'm looking for in way of a place. Is this something that I could actively look for or is it something...

Dr. Blair: Not at all. It'll manifest and I'll tell you when. You see I've got more of them over here with greater transportation than you have. We can check it out a little quicker, you see. I'm teasing a little bit, yes. But we will be able to manifest it, yes.

Question: Have you got a printing press over there?

Dr. Blair: Well I won't get into that because that'll take quite awhile. But we've got it-no I best not. I was going to say you know, just if it'd all been brought about as previously planned and designed, then of course, look at all the work here that wouldn't have gotten done, you see. So he's about to finish this one, well get him involved in that one. I'm teasing you, Al.

Response: Yes, I know.

Question: My husband and I are starting a whole new stage of our lives, we're going to attempt to take a very long trip...

Dr. Blair: Yes that's beautiful country, can't say a whole lot about the climate. But I think you'll find yourselves most happy, and I don't think you'll stay there permanently, more than about three years. Yes.

Question: I have a piece of property for sale in California...

Dr. Blair: My goodness, I believe you do.

Response: Do you know when I'm going to sell it?

Dr. Blair: Ok, by all means, of course. As soon as the time is right. It is yet a few days, but it's going to be very close, if not before the end of the month. You won't get it done, you'll just get it started. Yes. And he's got lots of money, too, the man who wants to buy it. Yes.

Question: I was expecting a check in the mail, do you know when it's going to come?

Dr. Blair: No but I'll split it with you. I'm teasing a little bit. I believe it'll be Friday. That's what your people are saying. Just stay with bread and peanut butter. I'm teasing a little.

Question: Will I be able to finish remodeling my home before the money runs out?

Dr. Blair: No, but you'll be close enough that you'll be satisfied with it. Because you never get finished, you know. That's like the little church here. It'll never get finished. I don't want Robert to hear that. But it will not. You know when you think you have it finished, you look at another part and say "Oh my goodness, now that looks so bad I need to do that one". You see what I'm saying dear? But, yes you'll be able to complete what you've started. Yes.

Dr. Blair: Loretta, they said go ahead and proceed as you know within yourself you should and don't get involved in any bargains. Do you understand what they're talking about? He's going to be all right. That doesn't mean that the load isn't going to be heavy, but he'll be all right.

Dr. Blair: I want to speak to the good Doctor Vance. I hope you got my message last evening.

Response: I did sir, thank you.

Dr. Blair: Now, if you follow through with it, it'll be as it should be. But that little condition, that was there a short while back, you know what I'm referring to? Well we don't want it back there, so behave yourself, and get a little more rest.

Question: My name is Yola, I don't know any of my guides. Do you happen to know them?

Dr. Blair: Do you know Peter?

Response: I don't think so.

Dr. Blair: You do now. Yes, and he's Scandinavian. Yes. His primary purpose is that of teaching. Yes. So when you want a little guidance, just ask for it. I don't normally do that by the way. But he's a little anxious.

The Rock says "The time is passed out". Does that mean it's succumbed?

Question: One quickie. I've lost the backing to my name tag, could you locate it?

Dr. Blair: As long as you didn't lose the front you're all right. It's gone, you've got it into-what? It's in a little basket thing you call it.

Response: A basket thing?

Dr. Blair: Where you put clothes.

Response: A hamper?

Dr. Blair: A basket like, it's in the bedroom. You're talking about the little thing that goes on the back of the pins?

Response: Right

Dr. Blair: Yes, but you go find a soldier and he'll loan you some. I'm teasing a little bit now. Well they'll tell you in time. Yes, you ask Ginger. She was a soldier you know. You didn't know that did you? She knows what I'm talking about.

Well I better take leave of the body. And you see David, I thought I behaved myself pretty well by comparison to earlier in the day, did I not? Yes, it wasn't easy.

Now before I close the circle I want to sincerely let it be understood and known to the extent that each of us here in spirit have been, not only pleased but overjoyed, with the love, the sharing and the work that has been taking place here in this little place. And I will tell you all that you have done it beyond the expectations not only of those around you, but those of us in spirit. And you are being looked upon by many, beyond your fondest dreams, those in your community, those in your neighbors as being a group that work together in love and harmony, and accomplish. That is part of God's growth.

And now as I leave you I ask only that God pour forth his richest of all blessings upon each and every one of you. May you ever walk in his light and know his love. But most of all may you be filled with his peace.

God Bless you one and all.
